Scout off to jamboree

Three Elk Point Boy Scouts left Thursday, July 11 for Fort Amherst, Prince Edward Island, where they will attend the 7th Canadian Scout Jamboree. Leaders, parents, Cubs and other well-wishers were on hand to see them off for Edmonton International Airport with Scout Leader Pat Johnson.

David McNamara, Darren Pilisko and Dean Berg were presented with an Elk Point flag and a quantity of town pins by Town Administrator Pat Vincent, and with E-Can Oilfield Service caps by Andrew Boddy, one of the Scouting Association's sponsors. Grant Nixon of the Scouting Association said the group is 'very proud of the boys, and of their accomplishments' which led to their acceptance at the jamboree. He thanked Scouter Pat and the boys' parents for their part in the preparations for the trip.

The three Elk Point Scouts are among 360 from northern Alberta who will attend the twelve-day jamboree, and were the only boys from Many Lakes District who were chosen to attend following Selection Camp last spring.

Council studies grant plans

Discussion of the recently approved Municipal Recreation Tourism Area grant topped Elk Point Town Council's July 17 agenda, with consultant Gene Roach of Alberta Recreation and Parks on hand to present further information on the grant and its uses. A $66,666 capital grant and $13,333 per year for 25 years in operational funding was announced by Minister of Recreation and Parks Dr. Steven West earlier this month.

Roach outlined the procedures to follow in planning the developments for which the funding will be utilized, and noted that priorities should be set for the various steps of development. The grant can be used to develop more than one area, as long as the areas chosen pertain to recreation and / or tourism and are designated in the application.

A special meeting to work on the plans was set for August 21, and will involve representatives of the Recreation Board, Historical Society and Tourism Action Committee in addition to Council.

With this new funding available, Council was able to restructure the Community Recreation / Culture grant allotment to reflect the $2782 cut in that program. Council eliminated the $1500 requested by the Historical Society for Mural Park development, as funding for this will be available under the MRTA grant, and cut their own Recreation and Cultural Department allotment by $1282.

A recommendation from the Tourism Action Committee for an innovative project involving the painting of fire hydrants to resemble historic, fictional or cartoon characters was endorsed by Council.

Buddy wins stampede

Ten years ago, a young Dewberry teamster named Buddy Bensmiller drove his rig to victory in the Calgary Stampede Chuckwagon Races. Last Sunday night, he did it again. Bensmiller held the lead from wire to wire in the final heat of the famed Rangeland Derby to win the ten-day race meet and the $50,000 prize money.

Bensmiller went into the final heat holding the second best overall time of the meet, along with leader George Normand of Bonnyville, Richard Cosgrave and Dallas Dorchester. Normand drew first for barrel position and was allotted Barrel 4. Bensmiller, drawing second, got Barrel 2, while Cosgrave and Dorchester drew Barrel 1 and Barrel 3 respectively. Tension mounted as the drivers returned to their wagons to await the championship heat.

As the horn sounded and announcer Joe Carbury bellowed his traditional, 'And they're off,' Bensmiller made a rapid circuit of the barrels and was first to the track, maintaining that position throughout the run to come in with a time of 1:15:66. Normand was second with 1:15:74, Dorchester third with 1:16:24 and Cosgrave fourth with 1:16:40 in the penalty free heat.

Bensmiller was sponsored by Chinook Centre at this year's Stampede.

New corrals ready

By Mildred Dunham

Last year, Walter Skolarchuk, along with the Heinsburg 4-H Multi Club which sponsors the Whitney Lake Rodeo, said there would be permanent corrals in place for the 1989 rodeo. And here they are!

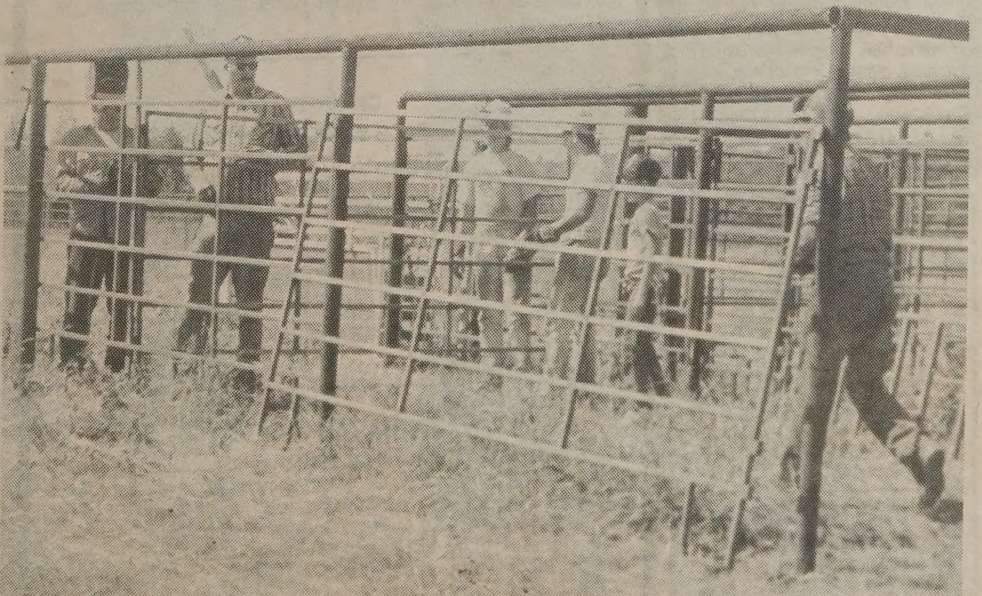

A grant from the Heinsburg Community Club enabled the 4-H Club to buy corral panels. Bob Smith was instrumental in acquiring piping material from Murphy Oil. A work bee was set up, with Walter Skolarchuk and sons Doyle, Darren and David, Eddy Skolarchuk, Larry Lorensen, Leonard Sawak, Eugene Lypowy, Terry and C. J. Best all volunteering to help out.

Early in the spring the posts were set, Larry Lorensen did the pipe cutting while Walter Skolarchuk did the welding. With everyone helping and working together, the corrals were set up and will be painted in 4-H colors, white panels and green posts. The facility will be called the Whitney Lake Rodeo and Fair Grounds. In the future, there will be other functions held there, such as 4-H shows, gymkhanas, dog shows, and possibly cattle sales.

The most credit for this achievement is given to the 4-H members who worked really hard selling tickets to raise money for this project. It goes to show that nothing is impossible if a community works together to accomplish something. They are anticipating fundraising auctions and are looking for donations toward their future goal of building bleachers and booths. They are borrowing the bleachers from the ball diamonds for now.

The 1989 Whitney Lake Rodeo will be held this Saturday and Sunday, July 22 and 23. A pancake breakfast will be held on Sunday morning, also the Cow-boys' Chapter of Christian Fellowship church service. They are anticipating a big crowd, so we'll see you at the rodeo!

Getting Ready For The Rodeo...

Heinsburg 4-H Multi Club had a number of volunteer workers on hand for last Friday's work bee at Whitney Lake Rodeo and Fair Grounds, in preparation for the annual rodeo which goes this weekend.

Council news

Three options for meeting staff requirements during the maternity leave of the office manager were studied, with Council agreeing to a proposal by the balance of the office staff to be retrained so they can share the duties, with increased remuneration, during the period, with a temporary receptionist-typist to be hired to fill the junior position in the office.

Further discussion of a combined FCSS - Recreation and Cultural Board and Department, to be known as the Community Services Board and Department, was on the agenda. Some of the members of the present boards have been contacted, and would support the move, Council was told. Policy and guidelines will be drafted for presentation to Council.

Problems with colored water in various parts of town are plaguing the Utilities Department. Superintendent of Public Works Ron Fraess and Water Treatment Plant operator Steve Penz attended the Council meeting to report on the problem, which is presently under investigation. Fraess and Penz stressed that the water is definitely fit for consumption, although the color may annoy some consumers.

The final decision of the meeting was to declare Monday, August 7, the Heritage Day Civic Holiday in Elk Point.

Editorial

Looking at us

Maybe it is time, as the letter to the editor on this page suggests, that our town should pause and take a hard look at itself.

If we did that, what would we see?

It would not be the sleepy, small town of a dozen years ago, where you knew everyone you met on the street, and were probably related to half of them, where your cousin ran the gas pump at the filling station, and your aunt rang up your purchases at the corner store and wrote them on a charge slip without even asking you, where everyone was on a first name basis, where the same people were on Council and on the Chamber of Commerce executive for years and years, and where everyone was content with the way things were.

No, things have changed. New people have come to town, bringing with them new businesses and new business ownership, new blood for Town Council and for the service clubs and Chamber, new technology and new ideas. They have built new homes, and new districts, and have filled the schools, playgrounds and arena with a new generation of children. They have taken part in new developments that were unheard of in the mid 1970s, and have been responsible for some of the vast changes to befall the area in a decade and a half.

Today's Elk Point is a modern and vibrant town, which has grown to accommodate the needs of an expanding population. At least two dozen new businesses have been added to the town since 1975, many of which are operated by persons who were not residents of Elk Point at that time. Maybe we (or perhaps, the Lakeland Review being one of the businesses which was not yet established then, one should say THEY) didn't need new clothing and variety stores, a modern drug store, another bank, a twice-expanded Co-op, gas bars and convenience stores and video outlets, and the people to operate them. Maybe the oil development wasn't necessary to the town's economy, and possibly the growth in business community, population and infrastructure was unwelcome to some of those who were here before the growth got underway.

However, the reality is that the growth has happened, almost doubling the town's population in less than twenty years. The mayor, the administrator, several councillors, half or more of the people on boards and club and group executives, many of the business owners and managers, numerous school teachers, youth leaders, hockey and ball coaches, and yes, the newspaper editor, are new arrivals in this town and this district during that time. But are we newcomers considered transients? Transients are defined in the dictionary as those who stay only a short time in a place before moving on.

Four or eight or twelve years seems like a short time to those who have lived here all their lives, without a doubt. But for those of us who have come here seeking a new home, a better lifestyle than in the cities, or the dried-out south, or some far away country, and who have found a new community to be part of and to take pride in, it seems like quite a stretch, and some of us feel as much a part of this area as if our roots had not been transplanted to its fertile and hospitable soil. Our grandparents did not come to settle this land, but we, another and somewhat belated wave of settlers, have come in their stead.

What do we, the newcomers, see when we look at Elk Point? Surely, not a place to subdue, to conquer, to divide with controversy and argument, any more than the long-time community members do. We, and they, see it as a beloved home town, and one in which we can all take great pride. Let's keep it that way.

Horse Association Opening...

Ruthless Writers

Water, sort of

By M.J. Cochrane

As I may have mentioned, I hail from the city. One of the nice things about cities is that when you turn on the faucet or shower you're pretty sure what will come out.

When we were looking for our farm we were dealing with rural real estate people. One of the things that always came up while extolling the virtues of 140 acres of scrub, slough and coyotes was the reference to "and there's real good water".

Little did I know that "good water" was anything that you could pour one cupful into a kitchen strainer and get half a cup back. I'm sure that at times our water had more livestock in it than the corral did!

Being a hardy soul I bit the bullet and didn't complain too much as I switched to milk, juice, diet coke, anything but good old H₂O. It was about this time that I developed a taste for Chablis; a nice little wine, fun to sip while shoveling out the sheep pens.

Where was I? Ah yes, water. While I found the solids and semi-solids a bit hard to take at least the liquid itself was crystal clear; you might even say limpid except under one rather major circumstance. In the washing machine it turned bright orange. So did everything else.

On hysterically inquiring at the knee of the omniscient District Home Economist, I was told the following: I had IRON BACTERIA in my water, not to worry, just don't use bleach, soap or hot water and it won't stain your clothes, well, not as much, anyway.

At this point, I started to notice other things: orange toilet bowls, sinks, bathtubs, shower curtains, hair. Did I say HAIR? Your darn right I did.

I am rather vain about the colour of my hair. For years I had been colouring my hair various shades of blonde. I finally decided to let nature take its course and lo and behold my very own natural hair was now silver/blond. Overwhelmed by this astonishing turn of events I decided to let my hair grow longer than it's been in years. Now this, what irony (no pun intended), the iron has colored the bottom third of my hair a yucky artificial orange and now everyone thinks I'm colouring my hair and doing a lousy job of it. There's no justice.

So, to a solution. The first thing that came to mind was just buy a colouring product and cover the whole thing up. This produced several results. They ranged from light orange to a vibrant glow in the dark orange.

Solution number two, cut it off. I couldn't bring myself to do it, a whole year's growth gone to waste; there had to be another way. Consultation with the local beauty parlors. Result, "If I were you dear, I wouldn't wash my hair in that water". Thank you very much.

As terminal depression started to settle in I did what I always do when I'm totally miserable, housework. I had purchased a cleaning product from my local Co-op which had skeleton hands and grinning skulls on the container. This was said to remove iron stains from clothing by soaking in a solution of the powder and water for a period of five to ten minutes and then laundering the clothes as usual. The warnings also included adequate ventilation, rubber gloves and utmost care in not ingesting this stuff. It actually worked. I found through experimenting that I could give our clothes one "treatment" to every three launderings and have relatively iron free clothes.

So, a little thought started to niggle at me. If this stuff works on cotton, a natural fibre, might it not also work for hair. Are you crazy? This stuff is so toxic you get a rash just looking at the container! But if I'm very careful...

So I tried it. I put my hair up in a pony tail, prepared a cupful of the solution and saying a little prayer to the god of vanity, dipped my pony tail into the container. Alarm clock in one hand, timing for precisely two minutes (don't ask me why two minutes, it just seemed like the right thing at the time).

As the seconds ticked by I started to feel something I can only describe as a draining sensation, caused I think by my brains being leached out of the ends of my hair. Please let me still have hair.

Two minutes up, I stuck my ponytail under the tap and with tightly shut eyes rinsed madly. Slowly I raised my head to look in the mirror, several minutes later I finally found the courage to open my eyes.

It worked! My silver/blond hair was back, all the orange yuck was gone, my vital parts were all still working.

Oh, life is good, and yes, blondes do have more fun.

Letter To The Editor

Take a hard look

Our town should pause and take a hard look at itself.

Elk Point was a community where all citizens from the barbers, the teachers, to the nurses and farmers all worked together to make our little hamlet a place of security for ourselves and our children.

The publication of Elk Point's history in "Reflections" brought home many fond memories, of family and friends.

Our Historical Society spent long months in preparing a book that reflects our past, bringing families closer together and revealing both hardships and happy occasions so that all could stand united within this community.

Thanks to the late Mary Bennett, grandparents, parents and our young people could learn and meditate where their grassroots really are.

Our doctors had patients from the Southern tip to the Northern parts of Alberta.

Dr. Miller, Dr. Ross and Dr. Weigerinck were dedicated doctors who spent long hours caring for the sick. Money was scarce and I do believe many of us were indebted to them.

Dr. K.C. Miller, a very dedicated young man, followed his fathers footsteps with equally the same devotion and kindness we expected to receive from a doctor's son.

How things have changed.

A new era has now turned over people into restless and dissatisfied ones.

Why?

The oil companies moved in and with them came a variety of transients, here today and gone tomorrow, never looking back.

We senior citizens can recall our community even back fifty years to be a place we enjoyed together.

We saw depression come and go and we handled it. These recent transients came into our community and want to set their rules and regulations.

Jealousy seems to be their motivation, I have seen how they operate, going in all directions without achieving anything.

Can it be their pride?

Not really, just plain ignorance.

Another thing, our pee wee hockey teams were the pride of all who loved hockey since 1927. That year our pee wee team guided by Gents Aarbo won the gold tie pin for North East Alberta. Our Golden Eagles pee wee team this past winter was something we people of this town should be proud of.

Our coaches that set a record for Elk Point are now supposedly to be banned from the arena indefinitely. We older people donate time and money for that arena. That arena is named after Dr.A.G. Ross. Because of the irresponsible behavior of some people running our hockey teams, most parents will have to take their boys to adjoining towns to play hockey. Not only will this cause inconvenience to them but with them they will take business which could have benefited the retail shops of Elk Point.

It is time the permanent residents of our community, seniors and younger ones wake up. We cannot allow the reins of our town and community to fall into the hands of transients who neither understand nor care about our ways.

Concerned Citizen.

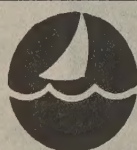

Flew south?

To whom it may concern:

Whoever took the Pink Flamingos off the lawn on Railway Avenue, you left one leg, either bring the Flamingos back or come and get the leg you lost.

I know who you are, I thought it was a joke, but I would like my Flamingos back.

What's news at the library?

Videos! Videos! The Elk Point Public Library has once again added a new and exciting program. That's Right, patrons can now borrow videos for a three day loan period. Some videos ready to go are: National Geographic's "Secret of the Titanic" and "Save the Panda"; instructional videos, "Color Me Beautiful Makeup Video" and Reader's Digest's "Home Repair Video"; Classic movies, "The Adventures of Robin Hood" starring Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland; "It Happened One Night" starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert. There are 28 titles now available and more coming in all the time.

The Elementary and Preschool Programs are a big success. With a record number of 26 elementary students taking part in Tyrannosaurus Rex Necklaces, Dino Bingo and stories. The preschoolers made necklaces last week as well from pasta and fruit loops, participated in musical dinosaurs and the gingerbread puppet show "The Gingerbread Man." There was a change in the movie last week, "The Secret of Nymh" was not available, instead 21 children watched "An American Tale". This weeks Thursday matinee, July 20, presentation will be "The Muppets Take Manhattan" at 2:00 p.m.

In Memoriam

AARBO, Ida

In loving memory of a dear Wife, Mother, and Grandmother, Ida Aarbo, who passed away July 25th, 1988.

She never failed to do her best, Her heart was true and tender, She toiled hard for those she loved, Then left them to remember. At early morn, when all was still, God gave His great command; In silent peace she passed away, Into the Better Land.

Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren.

Thank You

I would like to thank my relatives and friends for the lovely flowers, cards and visits while I was a patient in the Elk Point Hospital. It helped to pass the time.

Sincerely,
Rudolph Gregor
